

TO SAVE $MILLIONS

Atomic Science Aids Growers

SUMMERLAND (Staff)—Atomic science may save Okanagan Valley fruit growers $500,000 annually.

In the Summerland Experiment Station's long-range warfare against the tenacious codling moth, a vital role will be played by Atomic Energy of Canada, Chalk River, Ontario.

Insect experts here are experimenting with a machine that will irradiate the entire codling moth control program — with gamma rays.

A powerful "Gamma-ray Radiator" will go into operation sometime next month at the experimental station.

3-YEAR PROJECT

Dr. M. D. Proverbs, entomologist in charge of the project in the Okanagan told The Daily Courier this morning the machine would be in use in the valley for "at least three years".

The unit will cost about $17,000, and can be operated by one man. "It is still definitely in the experimental stage," said Dr. Proverbs, "but we are hoping."

It is one of three produced in Canada by Atomic Energy of Canada, Chalk River, Ont. Basically it is a container of the radioisotope "cobalt 60" also used in the cobalt bomb for cancer treatment.

Entomologists will use it to step up their continuous battle to wipe out the vicious moth which has caused millions of dollars loss to the B.C. fruit industry.

Male moths will be subjected to intense radiation which it is hoped will make them sterile and eradicate the species.

Scientists say no radiation contamination is involved. The unit will be in a shielded laboratory and treated moths will carry away virtually no residual radiation.

A similar project is being conducted by United States scientists in Hawaii in an attempt to eliminate the fruit fly. Another against a pest fly in the Dutch West Indies was spectacularly successful.

BULLETINS

A 22-year-old Kelowna man, Tony Tol Wong was remanded one week on a charge of criminal negligence resulting in death when he appeared in police court today. The charge was laid by RCMP after the car he was allegedly driving struck and fatally injured five-year-old Hilda Sommerfeld, 816 Wardlaw, who died in a Vancouver hospital.

PENTICTON (CP) — Sixty-three per cent of Okanagan fruit growers have signed their new contracts with packing houses and B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association was told Thursday night. Mr. M. Tait of Summerland said all packing houses have signed the contract.

Kelownian On Official Visit To West German Air Base

KAISERSLAUTERN, West Germany (Reuters) — A directing staff of three and 14 course members of the National Defence College of Canada arrived Thursday by RCAF plane at Rheinland U.S. Air Force Base near here from Belgrade for a 12-day visit to West Germany and West Berlin.

The members of the directing staff are Brig. H. E. Doucet, the tour leader, of Kingston, Ont., S. M. Scott of the department of external affairs, from Vancouver, and Commodore M. G. Stirling of the Canadian navy, from Kelowna, B.C.

Anglicans Reserve Punishment Opinion

VICTORIA (CP) — The Anglican Synod of the Diocese of British Columbia Thursday decided not to express a definite opinion on the abolition or retention of capital punishment.

Rev. G.D. Kuehl, convener of a special committee on capital punishment, said it appeared evident "that the dominion government is moving towards the objective desired by those favoring abolition."

Since the present government took office in June, 1957, 17 out of 21 death sentences had been commuted by the cabinet.

VICTORIA (CP) — A five-year $400,000 fund-raising campaign for Anglican services has been approved by the Anglican synod of the Diocese of British Columbia.

But some synod members were not happy about proposals on how the money should be spent.

E. W. Arnott presented a report which recommended a campaign for $400,000 start soon.

Some members said the proportions of money suggested were out of line and that not enough was being allowed for work in new parishes.

KELOWNA JUDGE PRAISES PLAYS

NELSON (CP) — Adjudicator J. P. Ferguson of Kelowna described as "an immensely good start" three one act plays staged here Thursday night at the opening of the three-day West Kootenay Drama Festival.

He said the Cat and the Cream, staged by South Shuswap's Kootenay River Players, was "a little gem . . . one of the best," while Fruitvale's May Even and Kaslo's Sorcery in the Saburb also were complimented.

Committee OKs Rail Subsidies

OTTAWA (CP) — Government legislation aimed at easing the burden of the last freight rate increase by a $20,000,000 freight subsidy was approved by the Commons railway committee today and was referred back to the Commons.

After several days of studying the bill, the committee defeated an amendment proposed by Lionel Chevrier (Montreal-Laurier) which would stipulate that the subsidy be used to knock off at least seven per cent from freight increased by 17 per cent last Dec. 1.

Bolshoi Ballet U.S. Premiere Big Success

NEW YORK (AP) — Eighteen hundred of thunderous applause greeted the Metropolitan Opera chorus Thursday night tell the story. The audience fell in love with the Bolshoi Ballet.

Clashes raged from young dance students who had waited in to 40 hours for standing room in the opera house.

They and again the curtain parted, bringing out Galina Ulanova, who danced in Sorcerer's Apprentice, Romeo and Juliet, and another round of applause and bouquets.

When the Soviet troupe appeared, the audience and the opera chorus joined in the American chorus of the Bolshoi.

At the end of the American flags were raised from the centre of the stage, and the national anthems of the two countries.

HEALTHIER DAYS—Former U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles (left) and his new secretary Christian

Herter Reported Medically Fit For U.S. Foreign Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Christian A. Herter apparently has cleared the last hurdle in the way of his appointment as new U.S. state secretary.

A specially selected doctor is understood to have found that Herter's sometimes painful arthritis of the hips will not interfere with his being an active foreign policy chief.

Herter long has been considered the leading prospect to succeed the ailing John Foster Dulles. But President Eisenhower is reported to have requested a confidential medical checkup of Herter by a "neutral" physician before making any appointment.

Dr. Theodore B. Bayles, Herter's personal physician, already had expressed confidence that Herter is capable of shouldering such duties despite the metal arm crutches he must use.

A Republican official, who knew about the medical exam, said Thursday night Eisenhower would announce Herter's formal nomination in a few days. Several senators have said the Senate was ready to confirm Herter promptly.

Accompanied by his wife, Herter left quietly by train Thursday night for a weekend rest at a family farm outside Charleston, S.C.

Aides said that the former Republican governor of Massachusetts, an avid outdoorsman, despite his ailment, wanted to relax for a few days before assuming the full load of running the state department.

Herter faces a formidable diplomatic testing period as the new secretary.

In 12 days he must fly to Paris to attend a meeting with the British, French and West German foreign ministers. On May 11, Herter, and the British and French foreign ministers confronts Russia's Andrei Gromyko for what promises to be a tough conference in Geneva.

FRANKFURT, Germany (Reuters)—John Foster Dulles' sister said here today that her brother's condition is serious and doctors have little hope.

Dulles' sister, Mrs. Eleanor Dulles, was speaking to reporters after her arrival here by air on her way to Berlin to attend a conference. She is a member of the German section of the United States department of state.

She told reporters at the airport that when she visited her brother soon after the announcement of his resignation as state secretary, he had asked her to express his best wishes for the Berliners and for the German people.

Rioting Prisoners May Kill Eighteen Hostages

DEER LODGE, MONT. (AP) — Convict riot leaders at the Montana prison told reporters today they are holding 23 hostages "including some stool pigeons."

DEER LODGE, Mont. (AP) — The lives of 18 hostages dangled in the balance today while Montana prison officials bargained with rioting convicts. They have killed a deputy warden and stabbed a guard.

The rebels released one hostage, Walter Jones, 24, prison psychologist, for an eight-minute talk with reporters.

He said guards among the hostages "are all set up to be killed, some will be hanged."

"I am going back in. I don't know for how long. The inmates are tough. Any little thing will set it off."

Jones said the convicts threatened to kill the other hostages if he did not return within eight minutes.

DASHED EARLIER REPORT

His statement dashed an earlier report from Father Gerald Lyman, prison chaplain, that an agreement had been reached to settle the riot that broke out Thursday.

Father Lyman told reporters after a session with the convicts and prison officials that "everything is going to be all right." He said a formal announcement would be made shortly. But three hours later no agreement had been announced.

Lyman pleaded with officials to "please leave this in the warden's hands. If you take it out of the warden's hands and storm the gates, we've all had it."

About 150 Montana National Guardsmen ringed the 90-year-old castle-like prison. They were armed with automatic rifles and bayonets.

LIBERALS MOVING RIGHT, SAYS CCF

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal party is being forced to move to the right and some members want Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland to lead them there, Frank Howard (CCF-Skeena) has suggested in the Commons.

The Liberals face a political dilemma because their "usual position on a seat on the fence a little left of centre" has been taken over by the Progressive Conservatives, the West Coast socialist said as the Commons finished the fourth day of the eight-day budget debate.

The Liberal party attempt to "substitute Smallwoodism for negativism," indicated that dilemma, Mr. Howard said. He added that Liberal J. W. Pickersgill was "paving the way" for Smallwood to take over from Lester B. Pearson as Liberal chief.

Gagliardi View Opposed By Sask. Minister

VANCOUVER (CP) — Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, convicted three times for speeding, indicated Thursday that raising the legal limit to 60 miles an hour on some highways may be only the beginning.

He said in an interview: "The safest speed anywhere on properly designed highways is 65 miles an hour."

The most dangerous speed is 35 miles an hour. At 35 most people are cotton-picking, yacking and dilly dallying.

People behind the wheel, fingers, then try to look. Sometimes they don't get away with it. At 65, they are just paying attention to what they are doing and what is ahead."

J. T. Douglas, highways minister in Saskatchewan and president of the Canadian Good Roads Association disagreed.

"I don't think that would apply in our province," he said. The speed limit there is 60 miles an hour on paved and good-grade gravel, and 50 elsewhere.

Sidewalk Costs Bylaw Prepared

City council this week gave three readings to five bylaws to collect costs of sidewalk or boulevard construction.

Bylaw 2046 is for the five-foot sidewalk on the east and west sides of Stirling Place, from Burne Ave. north.

Bylaw 2047 covers a five-foot sidewalk on the east side of Taylor Crescent, from Francis Ave. to Birch Ave.

Bylaw 2051 will empower the city to collect the costs for a five-foot sidewalk and boulevard curb on the north and south sides of Francis Ave., between Pandosy and Abbott.

Bylaw 2052 is to collect costs for a five-foot sidewalk on the south side of Birch Ave., from Pandosy to Abbott.

Bylaw 2053 concerns a six-inch boulevard curb on the north side of Burne Ave., from Abbott to Long.

Govt.'s Share For Kelowna Schools Hiked

Other Contributions Towards Total Budget Gives Area More

The impact of Kelowna school district costs — higher this year, as they are everywhere — has been softened by a department of education "second look."

Result of the "look" is a 2.1 per cent hike in government "sharing" as far as this district is concerned. Originally, the government's share was expected to be $868,085.

A study of the government's share of total education costs for School District 23 (Kelowna) shows Victoria is providing nearly $32,000 more towards the total budget than was indicated.

Related school board officials said this was because the government had changed its thinking somewhat on what items Victoria would share in. They believe that vigorous protests from all over the province caused officials to alter thinking about what is shareable and what is non-shareable.

Fred Macklin, secretary-treasurer of the board of trustees, Kelowna school district, who late in February publicly assailed the government's sharing plan bitterly, also has changed his mind.

"FAIR DEAL" — "We would like to congratulate the government on having second thoughts on these shareable items that we befuddled about," Mr. Macklin said this morning.

"Taking it all around," Mr. Macklin continued, "we have had a fair deal from Victoria on this year's budget."

The school district's net budget this year is $1,641,060, of which the government will provide $800,703, leaving $740,357 to be raised by the three municipalities and the rural area in the school district.

Based on original information, the school board expected Victoria's share to be $868,085. The increase of $21,993 more than expected is equivalent to 2.1 per cent, meaning now that Victoria is coming in to the tune of 55.1 per cent.

Bulk of the budget is for teachers' salaries, at $1,037,700. More than $200,000 of that amount is over the basic scale recognized by the government, and therefore is non-shareable.

COMPARATIVE FIGURES

Here are comparative figures, with last year's in brackets:

Net budget, $1,641,060 ($1,357,301); government's share, $800,703 ($772,542); school district's share, $740,357 ($584,859).

C. E. Sladen, school board chairman, commenting on the latest turn of events, said: "We think the government has moderated its stand, and that's what we are congratulating them for. But we're still going after a better formula and we hope to get it some day."

What does the school budget mean to the component parts in School District 23?

In brief, it will cost Kelowna, Glenora, Peachland and rural area taxpayers more in the aggregate. But the percentage of the total amount to be raised is slightly lower for Kelowna and Peachland, and it follows that the percentages for Glenora and the rural area are higher.

3.71 MILLS MORE

Last year, Kelowna was assessed for 4.98 per cent of the district's share of the costs, for a total of $413,256. This year, Kelowna's share is 48.73 per cent, for a total cost of $365,748. The extra amount for the city to raise this year is $72,492.

Douglas Herbert, city comptroller, said this morning that the additional $72,492 works out at a 3.74-mill increase, computed on the value of the 1959 values of the city.

Mr. MacDonald said he and others would be prepared to answer any questions on the matter at the special general meeting of the BCFGA in Penticton on Tuesday.

Asked if the vinegar company had been notified yet of the rejection of their proposals, Mr. MacDonald said this would be done this weekend.

Bill 43 Test Private Affair

VICTORIA (CP) — Should the B.C. Federation of Labor test the validity of bill 43 by publishing a non-patrolization list it is unlikely the provincial government will take any action, Attorney-General Bonner indicated Thursday.

The attorney general said that an injured party would have to start an action against the unions concerned.

Leaders of British Columbia Government Employees Association have accepted the challenge of Highways Minister Gagliardi to debate issues behind the recent civil servant strike.

Mr. Gagliardi issued the challenge at a labor meeting in Vancouver. An association spokesman said that a telegram has been sent to the minister stating that either

Sun-Rype Fights Cut Rate Firm

(Special to The Courier)

PENTICTON (CP) — Proposal of Canadian Vinegars Ltd. to establish a vinegar plant in the Okanagan, was termed "the thin edge of the wedge" last night by C. C. MacDonald of Penticton, a member of the board of directors of the grower-owned processing company, Sun-Rype Products Ltd.

Speaking to a meeting of Penticton local BCFGA, Mr. MacDonald said Sun-Rype products was refusing to supply the proposed plant with vinegar stock from fruit, because this would be "cutting our own throats."

"They don't intend to make just vinegar," Mr. MacDonald said. "Canadian vinegars owns an apple juice subsidiary which is one of our worst competitors from the standpoint of price and they intend to also make apple juice here and even apple cider. They would take off the cream of the market that we've developed in nearby centres, through their cheap production methods and lack of long-haul freight charges to compensate for in their prices."

Adding that the vinegar firm would guarantee no price for the vinegar stock supplied by Sun-Rype Products, Mr. MacDonald declared: "We'd be crazy to go along with them. We'd be cutting our own throats with our own company."

5-CENT PRICE

Noting that the growers processing firm has supplied Canadian vinegars with fruit stock, he said the best price ever obtained was 15 cents a gallon "which doesn't bring more to the grower than $2 per ton." In the U.S. vinegar stock is sold for 32 cents per the same size gallon, he explained.

"We're not dogs in the manger, about this," Mr. MacDonald emphasized. "As soon as they're willing to talk sense we'll be happy to deal with them, but at 15 cents a gallon we can't pay our growers one cent, and they haven't guaranteed us even 15 cents a gallon. To date we have had no guarantee of anything, quantity or price."

The vinegar plant has been proposed to be located in Penticton in the Waterloo Avenue area on property made available by the city.

Mr. MacDonald said he and others would be prepared to answer any questions on the matter at the special general meeting of the BCFGA in Penticton on Tuesday.

Asked if the vinegar company had been notified yet of the rejection of their proposals, Mr. MacDonald said this would be done this weekend.

Vernon Canadians Enjoy Full Backing Of Okanagan

Vernon Canadians on Wednesday night won the fifth game of the Western Canadian Allan Cup finals and are now undisputed senior champions from the head of the lakes to the Pacific. On Sunday they move to Toronto where they dispute the national title with the Whitby Dunlops.

The Canadians merit any praise they may receive for their achievements thus far. They were a strong, skilful, heady team in the league playoffs playing inspired hockey. The addition of a couple of Kelowna players has given them much more strength. They should be able to give Whitby a tough series, even though they should fail to topple that packed, angle-sponsored club.

Sunday the Canadians commence their second real test. If they play hockey as they did in their first test against the Packers, and with the same heart, they will bring only credit to Okanagan senior hockey. Should they win the Allan Cup—and we believe they can and will—it is to be hoped they obtain a better "break" in the committee room than they received the last time they did so when they were completely ignored in the consideration of a team to send to the world championships.

They may go into this crucial series confident that the whole Okanagan Valley and, indeed, the whole of British Columbia is solidly behind them. The Okanagan senior league since its formation has had an outstanding record in Canadian senior hockey circles. The Vernon team is a very worthy representative of the league this year. The Okanagan, and Kelowna in particular, wish the team every success and the sooner the Canadians wrap up the Whitby Dunlops, the happier everyone will be.

Go, Vernon! Go!

Two Sides To The Tax Story

There have been reminders aplenty of late, that the time for Canadians to file their 1958 income tax returns is rapidly approaching. The department of national revenue, however, has shown a commendable restraint in its urgings, contenting itself with pointing to the fact that early filing of returns assures taxpayers of a prompt settlement of any overpayment of income tax that may have resulted from the deduction-at-source system of collection.

Fortunately, Canadian taxpayers have been spared the sort of rhapsodizing about the privileges of paying taxes that U.S. taxpayers have been experiencing. The department of internal revenue in Washington, it seems, has been hiring top talent entertainers to appear on television to tell taxpayers how happy they should be to live in the United States and that they should pay the price of residence in taxes with a smile.

The truth is, however, that there are two sides to the tax story. This is just as true of Canada as of the United States. Both countries impose a heavy tax burden on their citizens. Both stick to so-called "progressive" taxation, which penalizes by way of a higher tax rate anyone whose talents or hard work earn him a somewhat higher income than his neighbor. Nor can it fairly be said that waste and extravagance in public spending is unknown on either side of the border.

There is nothing wrong with reminding people of their obligation to pay taxes. By the same token, taxpayers surely have a right to remind governments that they expect their tax money to be spent prudently and wisely, and that they consider some aspects of the tax system eminently unfair.

"43" Stirs More Reaction Than Any Other B.C. Bill

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—You won't find Bill 43 defined in any dictionary, but in British Columbia today most persons don't need a reference book to give it a definition.

To the trade unionist Bill 43 has become synonymous with enemy.

To the provincial government it means ground rules for peaceful labor-management relations.

To most everyone in the province its mention automatically brings to mind the Trade Unions Act.

Whatever its connotation, it has stirred perhaps more reaction in British Columbia than any legislation in years.

Bill 43 was introduced during the legislature session that ended last month. It amended the Trade Unions Act to make unions and employer organizations legally responsible and subject to legal suit.

It also forbids sympathy picketing and publishing of non-attendance lists by unions, lists which named non-union shops and products and advised unionists and others against patronizing them.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks told the House at the time that the act puts into effect ground rules for labor-management relations and creates equal responsibilities between both sides in labor disputes to promote labor stability.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said he would stake his Social Credit government's chances "on this policy in an election wherever it comes."

The labor-supporting CCF opposition violently opposed the legislation but after two all-night sessions, it became law.

Today, with less than a month gone by since the act was passed, press, radio and television coverage of reaction to Bill 43 has made the expression common place.

The B.C. Federation of Labor, provincial arm of the Canadian Labor Congress and with a membership of 110,000, has led a publicity campaign against the act, described as anti-labor, class legislation that endangers the existence of trade unionism.

The federation Wednesday decided to test the controversial legislation and publish an "unfair list."

Pat O'Neal, federation secretary, said the action is planned as "soon as possible" because the unionists feel the section violates the right of free speech.

"Some sections of the bill are thoroughly confusing and the only way to secure clarification is to challenge it," Mr. O'Neal said.

The action followed several meetings of the federation executive, affiliated unions and labor legislation specialists.

Trade union and CCF party supporters claim the legislation has been made for a show of support for the two in political action.

litical action from financing down to selection of candidates for the next provincial election. As a direct result of Bill 43, the 6,000-member Vancouver local of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) has pledged its support to the CCF. This came in addition to the IWA affiliation with the labor federation and its support of the CCF through that channel.

During the CCF convention here, CCF Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan described the B.C. act as a dangerous threat to the existence of trade unions . . . what has been built up over 100 years could be wiped out in 24 hours, he said.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

By THE VENERABLE D. S. CATCHPOLE

RANK INGRATITUDE

Some time ago, I got into hot water because I criticized the making of a Monday into a holiday simply because November 11, Remembrance Day, came on Sunday. My criticism was based on the principle that November 11 is, if not a holy day, at least a day sacred to the memory of our fighting men and no government has a right to turn it into an occasion for just another "day off." While I think this misuse of Remembrance Day is rank ingratitude, I am much as the sacrifice of fighting men is made the excuse for another of those paid holidays which seem to be an obsession with a certain section of society today. It is of rank ingratitude of quite another kind that I would express a personal opinion.

Thousands of years ago, the Hebrew religion laid it down that man was entitled to one day's rest in seven. Nearly two thousand years ago the Christian Church took over the idea of one day's rest in seven and throughout the succeeding centuries it was the Church which insisted that work should not be allowed on that day of rest. Sometimes, severe measures were used to ensure that no work should be done. Sometimes, the day of rest was a burden in that no one was allowed to do anything except to go to church or read the Bible or sing hymns. Nevertheless, the one day in seven was treasured among many peoples. Labor has gone on from there in late years and has demanded shorter hours and fewer days work. Many people work only five days a week; but it should be remembered that, had it not been for the Church "speaking broadly," the ground work for this condition would never have been laid.

This is where the rank ingratitude comes in. That day of rest is being used for the precise opposite of what was originally intended. The very people, namely the general public who benefit most by this one day's rest in seven are doing their best to negate the purpose for which the day was set aside, namely for recreation of both body and soul. I do not deny that it is each one's responsibility to decide just how that day is to be used. However, I charge, rank, ingratitude here.

In the last 10 days, B.C. labor leaders also have consulted with legal authorities on methods of preparing for suits against two Vancouver firms under the Trade Unions Act. He didn't name the companies involved and said it will be a month or so before any action is taken.

Meanwhile, Charles Gower, president of the Teamsters Union Joint Council here, said legal advisors have been instructed to prepare for suits against two Vancouver firms under the Trade Unions Act. He didn't name the companies involved and said it will be a month or so before any action is taken.

They deliberately appeal to selfish interests or they bring out the pressure of arguments, which are difficult to refuse. Without any religious convictions of their own these persons do their level best to draw away from the Church those who would normally use that day to refresh their spiritual part. This, I contend, is rank ingratitude. That day of rest has actually had to be fought for, and because we have fought to retain it for the purpose for which it was created, we are called Sabbatarianism. This I most certainly am not; but I know that society needs spiritual refreshment. So much for the voluntary and, perhaps, non-profit promoters of activities on that one day in seven.

The time came long ago in the United States, and it will come here when the greedy hands of commercialism will stretch out to grasp gains on that one day in seven. I will not contribute to this, and that is one very good reason why I refuse to hold funerals on Sunday. I will protect trades people and laboring people, whether they like it or not, from the necessity of work on that day. I will protect them against the selfishness of those who want Sunday funerals because more people can attend on that day. I will not condone Sunday concerts if it means unnecessary work for staff in theatres.

Some benefits have been hard to come by and hard to maintain. Yet the very people who are always howling about their rights are the very ones who are throwing away a very cherished possession, and often for selfish pleasure or a few miserable dollars. Apart from this being crass stupidity, I can call it only rank ingratitude.

FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE DULLES

Dulles Denounced, Praised For Foreign Affairs' Work

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles has been both violently denounced and extravagantly praised for his work in foreign affairs.

Few in his position have been more controversial, and historians will be slow to adopt President Eisenhower's estimate that he was the greatest U.S. state secretary.

But there can be no doubt that in the weeks ahead he will be sorely missed.

His successor faces a tough task in picking up foreign policy where Dulles, stricken by cancer, has put it down. His successor will have to move with similar speed and a comparable capacity for work to meet the Soviet challenge to the West over Berlin.

The times will allow no easy period of settling into the job. The man who takes over Dulles' desk has his work already cut out.

At the end of this month, April 29, he must meet in Paris with the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany to make final preparations for negotiations with the Russians on delicate and dangerous questions of the future of Berlin and Germany. May 11, with his British and French colleagues, he must sit opposite Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in a big four conference.

Probably in late July or August there will be a big four summit conference in which the new secretary will play a key role as the chief adviser to the president.

Dulles ran the state department with complete confidence in his own abilities. From the time he took over in January, 1953, he was the dominant figure. Few of his closest advisers knew, precisely what he would do in a given situation.

But now, even Eisenhower's stated desire to use Dulles as a consultant does not alter the fact that control passes into new hands.

Dulles had served as foreign affairs adviser to governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, when Dewey as Republican nominee unsuccessfully sought the presidency in 1948 and 1952. Had Dewey been elected, Dulles would have been secretary.

In spite of his highly partisan role in these campaigns, Dulles played a fundamental part in bringing about the development of a bipartisan foreign policy. He also worked for Democratic administrations from the time of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He served as a member of the bipartisan U.S. delegation to the United Nations charter conference at San Francisco and participated with success in Democratic secretaries of state in post-war peace negotiations with the Soviets.

Herter Foreign Affairs Student

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unlike many American politicians, Christian Archibald Herter has been interested in foreign affairs most of his life.

The man who has been acting as secretary of state and may get the cabinet post now that ailing John Foster Dulles has resigned had a head start in developing this interest.

He was born in France almost 64 years ago, to struggling young American artists in Paris, Albert and Adele Herter.

Although he was brought to the United States while still a boy, his interest in foreign affairs has never wavered.

After graduating from Harvard with honors, Herter decided he would like to be an architect and enrolled at Columbia University.

But in 1916 he returned to Harvard for his first class reunion. There he talked with a classmate, Lithgow Osborne, who had been in Berlin as an aide to ambassador Joseph Gerard. Osborne's tales of life in wartime Imperial Germany excited Herter's imagination, and a week later he was on his way to Europe as a member of the American foreign service.

He was one of the last Americans out of Germany after the U.S. entered the First World War—and he almost didn't make it. Most observers didn't think he had a chance, but he Mainz was arrested as a suspected spy. One officer favored shooting him on the spot, but

Late in 1956 he returned to Washington as undersecretary of that he was entitled to safe convey as a member of the U.S. embassy.

In 1919 he went back to Germany with Herbert Hoover to help direct the American Relief Council there.

Later he was to serve with Hoover, then president, in the commerce department, and there he learned a valuable lesson, Hoover, he said, was "an extraordinary and brilliant administrator," but "when he got into politics, he could not be flexible in his dealings with humans—one must be in politics."

TESTED THEORIES
Herter soon had a chance to test his political theories.

In 1930 he was elected to the Massachusetts state house, where he spent 12 years, the last four as Speaker. By 1942 he was ready for bigger game—the U.S. Congress.

In the House of Representatives Herter busied himself with foreign affairs, but kept an eye open for likely looking Republicans who might take the White House away from the Democrats. He was one of the earliest to say he thought that man was Dwight D. Eisenhower.

At the same time, he took a political risk of his own. He was persuaded to run for governor of Massachusetts against Paul A.

Most observers didn't think he had a chance, but he squeaked through, by 14,000 votes.

Late in 1956 he returned to Washington as undersecretary of that he was entitled to safe con-

A New Method of Raising Seedlings
The use of polyethylene film is rapidly changing the method of raising many of the popular plants from seeds, because this film prevents loss of soil moisture by evaporation.

Previous to its use, it was the custom to cover the seed flats, after the seeds had been sown, with sheets of paper or panes of glass. Sheets of paper did not keep the soil moist for very long and panes of glass needed daily attention. The glass had to be wiped dry each day, on the underside, or the glass had to be reversed to prevent the condensed moisture from dripping on to the germinating seeds.

If this moisture was not removed, "Damping Off" of the seedlings was the result. When polythene is used as a covering, the moisture condenses on the film in large globules and does not appear to drop on to the compost so readily.

Instead of being covered with a sheet of glass the seed-flat is slipped inside a polythene film bag.

This film, however, is permeable by air and therefore allows air to circulate freely in the boxes but at the same time it checks evaporation of the soil moisture.

There is no doubt that the use of polythene film will save time because it cuts down the watering to a minimum and the seeds require no further attention once they have been sown and placed under the film.

There are two methods of using this film. When a large number of boxes of quick germinating seeds are being sown, it is necessary only to place the boxes close together and lay sheets of polythene film over them. The film should reach to the bases of the boxes on either side.

Bugs made of polythene film and large enough to take the commercial seed flat are already being used and are proving to be an enormous benefit. The seed flats, after being sown and watered, are slipped into the bags, and the ends of the bags secured sufficiently to prevent loss of moisture.

As this film is transparent, the progress of the seedlings can be watched without removing the bags from the film. But as soon as the cotyledons or seed leaves have expanded the seedlings must be taken out of the bags and set on the open shelves.

For those who wish to raise seedlings in very large pots, small bags of this type can be slipped over the small pots. This provides ideal conditions for germination.

MACPHEE SPEAKS

Workers Must Make Decisions

"What kind of manager are you?"
This was asked of more than 120 guests at Thursday night's "graduation" banquet for students of the business management course, sponsored by the Kelowna Board of Trade.
And the man who did the asking was Dean E. D. MacPhee of the University of B.C. faculty of commerce and author of the controversial MacPhee report on the fruit industry.
Professor MacPhee cited four major lines of thought taken by employers in the past 100 years. The attitude first taken, he said, was simply "employees are children." This way of thinking obviously did not last long, he stated.
"We are the bosses, and you happen to be handy." This was another attitude in the "dark ages" of employer-employee relations. This way of thinking, too, could not survive, said the dean.
The next step was the dawning of a better realization of employees' capabilities and problems. "Employees are more than just a body of skills and reactions, and psychology is needed to fit them to their jobs."
BETTER RESULTS
The most recent development, he said, was the present realization by management: "Employees produce better results when as many decisions as possible are left up to them."
"Management," the professor added, "is the greatest privilege a person has, whether it is management of children or adults."
"Every executive—and every mother has to learn to manage—Two diplomas and 26 certificates were presented to students of the UBC course as a wind-up to a "highly successful season."
Those who took the course, for the most part, consisted of younger executives from all points in the Okanagan.
The two diplomas were presented to J. P. Charpentier, Kelowna, and I. R. McKenzie, Penticton.
Ian Greenwood chaired the committee in charge for the course, assisted by D. C. Simpson, T. C. McLaughlin and R. McClelland.
A large volume of business was dealt with at the well-attended meeting. Luncheon arrangements were in charge of the Vernon Film Council.
Delegates were chosen for the B.C. convention to be held in Trail May 9.
Pledits were passed to the Kelowna Film Council for showing more progress than other valley councils. This margin was attributed to the hard work and the close co-operation of all the groups concerned.

Ok. Film Council Elects Officers

Three Kelowna people were elected to office at the annual meeting of the Associated Okanagan Film Council at Vernon. G. W. Bowie is the new president and Mrs. M. McKeown the secretary-treasurer. Gordon Martin is a director. Vice-president is J. Miller of Princeton, while Charles Blumauer of Armstrong is another director.

ANTI-NOISE BYLAW TO GET SCRUTINY

Mayor Parkinson said this week he intends to appoint a city council committee to study the drawing-up of an anti-noise bylaw.
This decision followed a letter from the Kelowna Board of Trade to city council complaining of "excessive noise, especially from cars, and a tendency towards rowdiness in sections of the downtown area."
In lieu of a special bylaw, the trade board suggests the hiring of a special constable to control "this unsatisfactory condition."

Elks Stadium Soon Ready To Welcome Baseball Fans

By GEORGE INGLIS
(Courier Sports Editor)

A shave and a haircut, and Elks Stadium will be ready to entertain visitors.

Kelowna's trim baseball stadium, in the city's north end, has been having a face-lifting job, courtesy the parks board, and is ready for a bit of watering and trimming in the infield before the umpire cries "Play ball" next Sunday.

The old scoring booth has a second story now, giving the official scorers a better view of the park. A ticket booth, necessary with this year's night and week day games, has been added, and the closed grandstand has a new roof. The dugouts sport a trim wire screen now, and look like the real thing, instead of just a hole-in-the-fence.

Outside the park there's a black pile of poles that means more to the Orioles' ball club than all the grandstand renovations in the world, however. The tapered creosoted lengths piled up there will carry the candle power that makes night games possible this year, and give Kelowna ball fans a chance to witness an interesting schedule of exhibition games against U.S. and Canadian semi-pro ball clubs as well.

It will change the Orchard City's entertainment picture this summer—and have an effect on its finance, too.

HOW WILL LIGHTS AFFECT THE CITY'S FINANCES? Simple, when you think of it.

Coach Hank Tostenson already has a list of clubs as long as his arm that want to come here to play games, now that they are assured of night baseball. Every one of these clubs brings rooters and wives with them, and they invariably stay a day or two longer than the scheduled time if they are able to.

Whether they stay longer or not, they have a taste of the Orchard City, and the hospitality they receive here makes the name a "must" for further visits and maybe holidays. An example of this is the Fairchild Air Force team from Spokane, who came here with a bare team the first time, brought two busloads the second time, and had team members choose Kelowna for holidays since then.

The team from Almirra, Washington, brought up 60 people last year when they played in the Dominion Day tournament, and they agreed that if it were possible to schedule the tourney for July 4 this year, they'd "empty the town".

For some of the foothill dwellers, the trip will be an ecstatic experience, and there will undoubtedly be candidates for future holidays among them. Once seen, Kelowna and its surrounding beauties are seldom forgotten.

As John Fisher said, "Get a gimmick to make them stop here."

"IT'LL BE GOOD FOR THE CITY," is coach Hank Tostenson's watch-word, and the Orchard City's custodian of the diamonds is even more determined to make baseball an asset to the community this year, with the lights as the gimmick.

With this in mind, Hank has been mulling over the proposition of having two tournaments this year, instead of one. With July 1 falling on Wednesday, it would be virtually impossible to stage a big tournament successfully, but a four-team tournament of all-Canadian teams would be a cinch, with the last game played under the lights.

This would clear the decks then for an American tourney, staged on Saturday, July 4, their Independence Day.

Remembering the Almirra boys' assurance that they'd bring lots of fans, and bearing in mind the fact that seeds of U.S. visitors would love to make the trip with their ball club, especially if they had Sunday to go fishing, swimming or boating, this would definitely be "good for the city."

And that makes it good enough to boost.

THE CALIBRE OF THE LEAGUE IS GOING TO BE IMPROVED this year by 30-40%, at least, and this will mean the defending champs will have to go harder to make it an unprecedented three straight championships, a mark the O's have set their sights on.

In order to do this, however, the O's executive do not propose to go into the importing business, although they are not going to be averse to encouraging immigration of highly desirable young men who have a talent for the game. For the most part, however, they are going to leave it up to Hank to train his club up to a higher peak than ever before, and employ the splendid talent at hand to good advantage.

One of the boys who came here seeking employment and will probably prove to be an asset to the city and the ball club is young Don Holmes, a hockey goal-tender and a snazzy first baseman with a rousing style on the bases. Another young man is Leo Petty, who played with the club in the Quesnel tournament last year, and is expected to come here when he finishes his term in Gonzaga U.

For the rest, the talent will be home-brewed.

THIS SUNDAY WILL BE "B" DAY FOR KELOWNA FANS, as they will be able to have a look at this year's club in action against their perennial rivals, the hard-hitting Kamloops Okonots.

The Okies have a tough squad this year, and should it prove to be inadequate, they will make it stronger. They have a big plaque fasted up inside the eyelids of each guy who joins up with them this year, "beat the Orioles," and they intend to.

At this time of year, when the weather still has a touch of spring nip in it, baseball on a Sunday afternoon can be a thrilling experience, providing the weatherman complies.

Why not jam that ball park, Sunday?

SURVEYING THE REALM

Potentate of the of the ball park, Orioles' playing-coach-manager Hank Tostenson looked the situation over yesterday, making sure everything was ready for the Kelowna opener.

Ageless Agar And Crew Seek Second Allan Cup

VERNON (CP)—Vernon Canadians will be trying for their second Canadian amateur hockey championship in four years when they meet Whitby Dunlops in Toronto Sunday in the first game of the Allan Cup series.

But although veteran coach George Agar says this year's team is stronger than the one which took the cup in 1956, the long trail to the finals has been a hard one this year.

The Canadians, who claimed the Western championship Wednesday night with a 4-1 victory over Regina, took the Allan Cup in 1956 after 24 playoff games. This year they've already played 26.

OWN LEAGUE TOUGHEST So far, their toughest competition has been in their own Okanagan Senior Hockey League in British Columbia's fruit belt. It took them the full seven games to defeat Kamloops in an OSHL semi-final.

Closest was the final against Kelowna, which the Canadians won when Agar scored with 11 seconds remaining in overtime in the seventh game. They took the series with two wins, four ties and one loss.

Vernon also had to go the full seven games to defeat Nelson Maple Leafs of the Western International League in the B.C. final.

The victory over Regina Caps came in Vernon's third western final. They lost to Fort William Beavers in 1954-55 and won in 1955-56.

Agar, in his sixth year as playing-coach for the Canadians, is a 40-year-old veteran of 18 years of minor league hockey. He has scored more than 400 goals.

In his last professional season —with Calgary Stampede of the Western Hockey League in 1951-52—he won the individual title with 93 points and was named to the league's all-star team.

MANY VETERANS

Eleven of the players on the team which defeated Chatham Maroons to take the Allan Cup in 1956 are still with Vernon —goalie Hal Gordon, defencemen Tom Steek and Willis Schmidt, and forwards Johnny Horns, Odie Lowe, Walt Trentini, Sherman Blair, Merv Bidoski, Art Hart, Frank King and Agar.

High-scoring Billy Hryciuk, playing coach of the Kamloops Chiefs, and rugged Russ Kowalchuk and defenceman Harry Smith of the Kelowna Packers were picked up by the Canadians from OSHL teams for their series against Regina.

Boomer Blast Leafs, Tears Punch's Hopes

TORONTO (CP)—Bernie (Boomer Boom) Geoffrion has become the second-highest scorer in Stanley Cup history and while attaining that feat he put a big crack in Punch Imlach's crystal ball.

Geoffrion scored the winning goal and set up the other two Thursday night as Montreal Canadiens defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2 to move to within one game of a record-shattering fourth straight cup.

Now Leafs are faced with the task of beating the mighty Canadiens three games in a row to win the best-of-seven series. Toronto coach Imlach predicted before the final started that Leafs would take it but said it would take only six games.

SECOND TO ROCKET

Geoffrion's three points boosted his National Hockey League playoff total to 33. He previously was tied with Chicago Black Hawks' Ted Lindsay, Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal leads with 122 points.

Geoffrion also ranks second among playoff goal scorers with 49. Richard, who owns a flock of records, has 81.

Boom Boom set up goals by rookies Ab McDonald, his first in playoff competition, and Ralph Backstrom. Frank Mahovlich and Billy Harris scored for Toronto.

Leafs had several scoring chances, especially during the scoreless first two periods, but they failed to hit the net.

Harris opened the scoring at 3:45 of the third period, tipping in a rebound after Montreal netminder Jacques Plante kicked Gerry Ehman's long shot out. The goal came on a five-foot shot.

But Canadiens salted the game away with three goals within a six-minute span midway through the period. Mahovlich closed the scoring with less than two minutes remaining in regulation time, pushing Ehman's goalmouth pass through a scramble of players.

SCHOOL ATHLETE'S GUTS PAID OFF WITH VICTORY

Perserverance paid off for one high school athlete. Kelowna high school's Doug McColl, who was a nobody in the Golden Owls track picture last year, knocked off top spot in the recent "cross-country" run in City Park, clocking eight minutes for the approximate mile and a half, beating out the highly-rated Jerry Jantz, holder of the provincial 440 mark.

McColl achieved the win by sheer perserverance, after training assiduously all spring, and will be worth watching in the school track meet, coming up May 1.

Demeter's Hazel Wand Waves Bums To Victory

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers have been waiting a long time for Don Demeter. Now it looks as if their patience has paid off.

Demeter has been a robust fill-in for the ailing Duke Snider in center field, figuring in all three Los Angeles victories.

He did it again Thursday night, socking a two-run homer, a single and a fifth-inning double that brought home the winning run in a 7-6 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals at Los Angeles.

SIGNED SEVEN YEARS AGO

The Dodgers signed Demeter from an Oklahoma City high school back in 1952. He batted only .189 in 106 trips to the plate last season.

The Dodger victory Thursday night gave them a share of fourth place in the National League, 1 1/2 games behind Milwaukee's still undefeated first place Braves, who beat Philadelphia 7-3. The Chicago Cubs, who share fourth, whipped San Francisco 11-3. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were idle. The Dodgers counted six runs on three homers at the Coliseum. Rookie Ron Fairley sliced a lead-off shot over the left-field "barrier" off loser Ernie Broglio. Braves, who won with four runs (0-2), who also gave up Demeter's homer for a three-run first inning. Rookie Jim Baxes hit a three-run homer off Howie Nunn, second of six Card pitchers. St. Louis used 25 players, a NL record, and matching the major league mark for a nine-inning game.

Johnny Klippstein, third Dodger pitcher, was the winner.

SECOND VICTORY

Low Burdette gained his second victory with a six hitter for the Los Angeles Dodgers. Five Giant errors, for a total of 17 in six games, gave the Cubs six unearned runs, five coming as they scored seven in the ninth. Dale Long's two-run homer was the clincher in the fifth off loser Sam Jones (1-1). Glen Hobbie (1-0) won it with relief help.

Mounties Open At Salt Lake

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Pacific Coast League opens its 1959 season today with two games scheduled on southern California.

The defending champion Phoenix Giants open their campaign for another pennant by taking on the Spokane Indians at Phoenix.

In other games, Vancouver Mounties meet Salt Lake City

Bees at Salt Lake in a single contest and day-night double-headers are scheduled between Sacramento Solons and Seattle Rainiers at Sacramento and San Diego Padres and Portland Beavers at San Diego.

The Giants will send Eddie Fisher, 11-7 at Corpus Christi last year, against Spokane's Connie Grob, 9-13, or Ralph Mauriello, also 9-13 in 1958.

Charlie Beamon, 1-3, will go for Vancouver against Don Rowe 3-4, or Laurin Pepper, 10-12.

At Sacramento, Joe Stanka, 10-14, and Winston Brown, 17-10 at Austin, Tex., in 1958, will work for the home team against Seattle's Max Surkont, 10-10, and Claude Osteen, 5-4.

San Diego will call on Bobby Locke, a youngster just out of military service, and Dick Stigman, 15-7 with Mobile last year, to battle with Portland's Vic Lombardi, 11-6, and Ben Dwarin, who had an 8-6 record at Albany in 1958.

Sparkling for the eastern champs were Ed Laschuk and Don Guest, scoring 16 and 13 points, respectively.

Chinooks may have lost the services of star forward Tom Karren who suffered a badly twisted ankle early in the first quarter. Chinook coach Dean Bennett said "it seems doubtful" that Karren will play in the deciding game.

The losers adopted a loose version of the Feller press early in the second half Thursday night but Ottawa was ready for it and broke it up with sharp corner passing and quick rebounding.

Cage Throne Now Hanging In Air

OTTAWA (CP)—The best-of-five final between southern Alberta Chinooks and Ottawa Fellers for the Canadian senior A basketball championship becomes a sudden-death affair Saturday night.

Fellers trounced the tired but game Chinook squad 79-59 Thursday night to tie the series at two games apiece and force a final game Saturday. It was Ottawa's second straight win and they are now favored to go all the way.

For the Lethbridge team it was their eighth playoff game in the last 11 days. They won the western championship last week by defeating Winnipeg Kodiaks in four games.

Playing a fast, smooth offence and coupling it with brilliant ball hawking on defence, Fellers ran away with the game early in the first half. They led 20-12 after the first quarter, 39-19 at the half and 59-29 going into the final quarter.

Veil Lifts On London And Floyd

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Floyd Patterson-Brian London heavyweight championship bout, scheduled for May 1, began jelling today after weeks of mystery.

The challenger is here and working and Patterson is scheduled to arrive Saturday.

Officials said final contracts, including a return bout clause if London wins, will be signed shortly after Patterson arrives.

The bout originally was scheduled for Las Vegas, Nev., then switched to Indianapolis. In the interim the date was changed from April 21 to May 1. Then came the announcement that Cecil Rhodes of Cranford, N.J., had been replaced as promoter by Al Farb of Indianapolis and the Hoosier Boxing Club.

The promotion, evidently was the angle that kept a cloud of secrecy surrounding the fight. After the switch, Gus D'Amato, Patterson's manager said the "fight in Indianapolis definitely will take place May 1."

Khrushchev Made His Wife A Well-Known Personality

Moscow leaders usually keep their families in the background, but Nikita Khrushchev is an exception. Harold K. Mills, just out of Moscow after three years' duty as chief of bureau for The Associated Press, wrote this story.

By HAROLD K. MILLS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Among the many changes Nikita Khrushchev has made in the Soviet Union is one directly affecting his family life. He has made his wife a publicly known personality.

Until Khrushchev became head of both government and the Communist party, the wives of top-level Russian leaders hadn't been seen by foreigners in years, even at functions attended by foreign officials or diplomats.

Now Khrushchev has changed all this, as he has changed many things in Russia. Mrs. Khrushchev's given name is Nadezhda, meaning Hope. She first became known as a hostess for important visitors when Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was invited to the Khrushchev summer home on the Black Sea.

Later, at a Kremlin reception for foreign diplomats, she talked with some of the envoys and their wives—about home matters, far removed from any connection with her husband's job.

In most of these appearances she wore black or dark dresses, and had her grey hair tightly pinned into a bun on the back of her head.

Her latest appearance at an official Moscow reception came during the recent visit of Britain's Prime Minister, Harold Wilson. She was in the reserved dinner section of the Kremlin's St. George Hall but remained in the background, chatting with Russians or with diplomats. Her husband's toasts with Macmillan and other Soviet and British officials were strictly a man's affair within an inner circle.

Those who saw her there noted something else: Mrs. Khrushchev had abandoned her dark dress for a gown of soft grey, well cut and decorated. Her hair was fashionably arranged and worn loosely, with the bun low at the back of her neck.

She appeared in a front-row seat in the visitors' gallery when the Communist party's 21st congress opened. Throughout her husband's long presentation of the new Soviet seven-year plan she seemed to listen intently.

She also accompanied Khrushchev to Leningrad to welcome Finland's president on a state visit.

Among the latest to share Mrs. Khrushchev's hospitality at the summer home were Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations and Raswell Garsh, an American corn farmer from Iowa. She presided as hostess at meals for both.

GOOD MOTHER

Veteran Moscow observers believe Mrs. Khrushchev is determined to protect her bustling husband's health, and to give him as much of a normal family life as she can.

But there is little public information in Moscow on their family life. It is believed they were married in 1938, after he was widowed.

She helped raise his two sons—one perished in the war—and his two daughters. Both are married now, one to a Communist party editor in Moscow, the other to a Kiev theatre manager.

Apparently she spends a good share of her time at Pitsunda, the party leaders' resort on the Black Sea, and encourages her husband to come there as much as possible.

East Kelowna Women's Institute Taught Tricks Of Cake Icing

EAST KELOWNA — Members and invited guests enjoyed a very interesting cake-icing demonstration by W. Clarke of McGavin Bakeries, following the business portion of the monthly meeting of the Women's Institute held in the Community Hall.

The meeting was called to order by the president with the Collect of the ACWW. Following the reading of the minutes, a very satisfactory treasurer's report was heard. Correspondence included a letter of thanks from the USC for baby layettes made and sent by the membership.

Mrs. W. Hince was named delegate to the South Okanagan and Similkameen district rally which will take place in West Summerland on May 11. The Border picnic has been arranged for June 9 at the Summerland Experimental Station.

Date for the annual plant sale was set for May 6 in the Hall. Mrs. W. Fairweather and Mrs. H. A. Porter will be in charge of the home-cooking table; looking after plants and shrubs, Mrs. E. Steinke, Mrs. S. Heitzman, and Mrs. W. Hince; and tea conveners are Mrs. G. MacDonnell and Mrs. W. Murrell.

Donations were voted to the Junior Hospital Auxiliary and the Canadian Cancer Society. On May 13 the Canadian government will honor the Associated Country Women of the World with the issue of a new five-cent stamp. This year also marks the 100th year since the birth of the founder of Women's Institutes in Canada, Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless.

The committee of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada has arranged for a specially engraved first-day cover, which will bear the new stamp and the words "For Home and Country," to be mailed from Stoney Creek, Ont., site of the first Women's Institute in this country. Standing Room Line Forms For Ballet

NEW YORK (AP) — Tonight marks the American debut of Russia's Bolshoi Ballet troupe and a cross-section of society, diplomacy, business—and dance fans—have plunked down $50 each for box seats and $40 for an orchestra chair.

In addition, there will be 200 standees at $3 each. The line-up to buy that space began Wednesday afternoon, with those enduring the all-night vigil armed with blankets, sleeping bags, picnic jugs and other paraphernalia.

The standing room tickets did not go on sale until Thursday night.

The premiere performance, Prokofiev's Romeo and Juliet, launches a 3½-week repertory run in the old red-and-gold Metropolitan Opera House. Then the 100 dancers and 90 musicians go on tour that includes Toronto and Montreal before returning here in May to end the eight-week visit with an appearance at Madison Square Garden.

Nurse Finds Travel Presents Problems

EDMONTON (CP)—The world may be getting smaller, but the traveller to distant lands still faces many problems, nurse Florence McDonald has found.

Miss McDonald, former nursing supervisor here for the Canadian Red Cross, left recently for Iran where she will help staff a hospital at Shiraz, about two hours flying time from Tehran, the capital.

Although she will fly to Iran, she had to ship her baggage by sea two months ago, and it won't arrive until a month after her.

She had to take summer clothes and necessities for the first few weeks in the 66-pound air luggage allowance.

Her contract is for two years and she was advised to take all the cosmetics she will need for that time.

"I think I have about 10 bottles of shampoo and it's possible I'll have cosmetics for sale when I get back," she said.

Her wardrobe included a variety of cotton clothes. "It's too hot for nylon, which is practically non-existent there," she said.

Miss McDonald applied for the job after seeing an advertisement in an American nursing journal. She was called to New York for interviews by the Iran Health Foundation, which operates the hospital.

At Shiraz, she will help to revise and improve the nurses' training program.

Miss McDonald is a graduate of the University of Alberta school of nursing and worked with the school of nursing at the Edmonton General Hospital before joining the Red Cross in 1956.

Social Credit Group Ends Card Parties

Decision to terminate the card parties for this season was made at a meeting of the OK Social Credit Group held at the Britannia St. home of Mrs. Thomas Buchanan this week.

Attendance was very gratifying for this meeting, the recent sicknesses prevalent in the group now being overcome to a great extent. The evening was taken up with general business, concluding with refreshments and a social chat.

Mrs. Fredricks of Winfield was the winner of the special prize. Next meeting will be held May 12 at the Winfield home of Mrs. Fredricks, and those planning to attend are asked to contact the president so that transportation arrangements may be made.

Murderer Confesses At Graham Crusade

SYDNEY (AP) — Billy Graham told 21,000 people at Sydney showground that a man who drank previously had confessed that he had been responsible for the death of his wife eight years ago.

The man said his wicked life had caused his wife's death. Hundreds of people saw ushers escort a man from the arena.

The man went to Graham and said: "I just came to the hotel today to find out if you fellows really meant it when you said God can overcome my sin."

Graham told the crowd: "We said 'yes' and he went away with a smile from ear to ear with his little Gospel of John clutched in his hand."

Youth For Christ this month will have as guests, two noted evangelists, specialists in different fields.
Arnie Hartman, formerly a concert accordionist, and Dr.

Vincent Bennett a teacher and song writer will appear.

Mr. Hartman is on a Canadian tour at present and is considered by many to be the most outstanding gospel accordionist on the continent.

He is a former night club entertainer, but now devotes his entire repertoire to evangelistic work.

Dr. Bennett has been assistant to the president of Wheaton College in Illinois and a junior associate of the late Dr. G. Morgan Campbell.

After special study at the Moody Bible Institute, he graduated from McCormick Theological Seminary. Dr. Bennett was for several years university pastor and professor of Bible at John Brown University and vice-president of the John Brown Schools in the U.S.

Stony Plain Elementary And Junior High — His Brothers

By RUSSELL ELMAN
MADURAI, India (CP)—Clutching the Canadian toy car he got for Christmas, an 11-year-old Tamil boy at the Ballar High School children's home here introduced himself in English:

"My name is Ganesan. My brothers and sisters are Stony Plain Elementary and Junior High School, Alberta."

Today Ganesan owes a new start in life to 250 Stony Plain boys and girls who each give a dime a month to provide him with food, shelter, clothes and schooling. He is one of 600 Indian foster-children adopted by Canadians through the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada.

The USC, with headquarters in Ottawa, now sponsors 12 children's homes and two vocational training centres in India. Most of these, including Ballar High, are run by the Guild of Service, an Indian voluntary organization.

GOODWILL FOR CANADA
"An army of enthusiastic little friends, with goodwill for Canada is growing up in our homes," which they sell to the village to said Dr. Lotta Hiltzmanova, USC executive director. "You consist of knapsack, a type of porcupine measure in dollars and cents; chappati, wheat flour pan-cakes; the personal interest and kindness; and Canadian powdered love shown for the children by milk, lunch is rice, curry, curd and pickles."

Ballar High recently moved to a new site at Thripuramkum, a village six miles from the Indian industrial city of Madurai. Forty children, aged 3 to 12, live in a clean, whitewashed building at the foot of a 200-foot hill topped by a Hindu temple and Moslem mosque.

The children are all orphans or from Madurai district families who have no means of supporting them. At present 24 have Canadian foster — parents, who each give $60 a year for their upkeep. The Canadian parents include the Stony Plain school; the Wing Cmdr. Guy Gibson, VC, chapter of the IOOE, Ottawa; Eastwood College; Institute; Kitchener, Ont.; First United Church Junior Women's Association, Leithbridge; Miss Keith S. Rogers of Charlottetown; Sunday Blue Dairy Ltd., Duncan, B.C., which donates all its profits to support a total of 11 USC foster-children; Thomas J. Johnstone, Toronto real estate man who has two children at Ballar High plus six more in other homes; John Vickers, H.C. family who chubbled together to adopt one child and then could only afford to lay out

United Church Secretary Sees Missionary Fields

"One of the greatest missionary opportunities is through the thousands of men and women who represent government, business, and inter-governmental agencies in countries around the world," said Ralph Young, secretary of the board of men of the United Church of Canada, speaking at the annual meeting of that board in Toronto last week.

Mr. Young said, "The Christian Church is on a trial every day and is often condemned by non-Christians because there appears to them to be no relationship in the actions of some Canadians living abroad and what is proclaimed by other Canadians to be the Christian Gospel."

The board of men's secretary said the task of the church is to encourage well qualified young Christians to seek opportunities to serve abroad as technicians, business representatives, representatives of government and to help prepare such people.

The object of the board of men is to deepen the spiritual life of the men of the church and to increase knowledge of laymen in church work and to enlist an active working force of laymen in every conference, Presbytery and congregation.

This year, Glenmore's share is 4.31 per cent, for a total of $49,960.
As for Peachland, the municipality's share last year was 2.24 per cent, bringing in $14,135. This year, Peachland's share is 2.05 per cent, for a total of $16,204.
Mr. Macklin said Peachland's percentages was lower this year because the municipality's assessed values did not increase in the same proportion as those elsewhere.
Last year the rural area had to pay 42.36 per cent of the district's share of the overall budget, amounting to $221,380. This year, the rural area's share is 42.91 per cent, requiring the taxpayers to contribute $288,445.
In every case, Mr. Macklin explained, the percentages were decided upon by the education department and they vary according to the increase or decrease of the assessed values in the component parts in the school district, which extends from Oxyana in the north to Peachland in the south.
NANAIMO (CP)—Nanaimo district school board Thursday said it will protest the department of education's rejection of $270,383 of the district's $1,000,000 teacher salary bill. The education department claimed teachers' salaries were non-shareable items.

The bidding:

1♠ Pass 1NT Pass
2♠ Pass 3♠ Pass
4♠

Open lead—king of hearts. There didn't seem to be much to this hand (Deal No. 13) when Harmon and Stokold reached four spades and made five. If anything, the American East-West pair thought they might have a shade the best of the hand since they had avoided the trap of a three-trump contract, and Harmon also had played to drop the queen of clubs instead of attempting to finesse against it.

But at the other table strange things were happening. Simiscaleo opened the bidding with a Neapolitan club, an artificial bid showing a hand with at least 17 high card points. Fry overcalled with a heart.

Forquet bid two clubs (also an artificial bid) to show that he had an ace a king or three kings. It was merely a coincidence that both Forquet and Simiscaleo actually had clubs. Lazard realized the Neapolitan pair had a big hand between them and decided to cramp the opponents in their search for a suit. He jumped to three hearts! Here is the complete bidding:

East	South	West	North
1♠	1♥	2♣	3♥
2♣	3♥	4♣	Pass
Pass	5♥	Pass	Pass
Decl.

Simiscaleo and Forquet paid no attention to the interference tactics and quickly reached the proper contract of four spades. When this came around to Fry, he gave long thought to the feasibility of taking a sacrifice against the vulnerable game. He had no idea that Lazard's jump to three hearts was entirely psychological and that Lazard's hand was not only devoid of high cards but also of distribution.

A loud groan from the tense audience went up as Fry bid five hearts. This was duly doubled and went down six tricks—1,100 points. Fry lost two spades, three diamonds, two clubs, and a spade overtrick.

Whether Lazard or Fry was more to blame for the debacle is open to question. The one thing sure is that Italy gained 450 points on the deal—5 IMPs.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ESTRELLITA

FOR TOMORROW

Don't make drastic changes now, since most projects, if already launched, should run quite smoothly. However, if you do not curb during the intervening months, face up to them squarely, and use logic and good judgment to solve them. Don't make hasty decisions at this time.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, while your innately aggressive disposition could help to further your job and financial goals, they could prove your undoing.

Mrs. Schneider Interred After Requiem Mass

Requiem mass was said at the Church of The Immaculate Conception Thursday morning for Mrs. Martha Schneider, wife of Jacob Schneider, 1864 Ethel St., and who succumbed in the local hospital Monday at the age of 70, following a lingering illness.

Celebrant was Very Rev. R. D. Anderson. Father Anderson also officiated at the graveside rites at the K. J. O'Connell cemetery.

A resident of Kelowna for the past 23 years, the late Mrs. Schneider was born in Russia, immigrating to Canada 50 years ago, as a bride. For 22 years she and her husband resided in Saskatchewan, first at Allan and later at Regina. They observed their 50th wedding anniversary in February of last year. She was a member of the Kelowna subdivision of the Catholic Women's League.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, Nicholas, Toronto, and Joseph, in Kelowna; five daughters Mrs. J. (Elizabeth) Schlegel, Quesnel, B.C.; Mrs. E. (Marie) Kunkle, Walkerton, Ont.; Mrs. P. (Anna) Dickson, Westbank; Mrs. B. (Madeline) Kliek, Alton, B.C.; and Mrs. L. (Katharine) Douillard, Kelowna; also 19 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The evening before the funeral, Rosary and prayers for the departed were recited at the Kelowna Funeral Directors' chapel. Pallbearers were E. E. Wahl, Michael Feist, B. P. Schlegel, A. P. Mayer, August Pfleger and Joseph Stoltz.

BODY SEIZED - Coffin containing body of Clement Dunlop, above, opposition leader in Haiti who died in a plane crash, was seized by armed police en route to a church for funeral service. He was bitter enemy of president. No explanation for seizure was given.

10 Million Atomic Bombs Said Need For Oil Extraction

OTTAWA (CP) - Dr. John Convey is studying whether the extraction of oil by nuclear methods is feasible. The figure he gave the commission was 10 million atomic bombs, costing $1.2 million on the total number of 10,000 each at present prices, to for a full-scale operation was from all of Alberta's immense Athabasca oil sands.

He gave the figures to the Atomic Energy Commission, which is studying the possibility of extracting oil from the 17,000 square miles of oil sands, at 610 acres to the square mile.

Later, to reporters, he said it was "a bit premature" to calculate the number of bombs.

"It all depends on what we find out from the first experiment," Dr. Convey said, referring to a proposed test blast by the Highfield Oil Corporation of Los Angeles. A government industry committee under Dr. Convey is studying the feasibility.
